

STORY LOCKS

This padlock would be considered a reproduction. This padlock was first made in 1985. You can tell this lock from the original by the number 85 cast into the upper back of the padlock. This is true until someone removes the 85 and tries to sell it as an original. So take a very close look at the back to see if someone has tried to remove anything where the 85 would have been.

The above three reproductions were made in Australia. The patterns were made from real story locks. The three locks are made of brass.
